U.N. Chief Asks For Inquiry

Countless Men Believed In Red Camps

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS)—The U.N. Assembly convening Sept. 15 was asked Friday by Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to probe the fate of 2,000,000 World War II prisoners of war still missing and said to be in Soviet prison camps.

In a surprise move, Hammarskjöld added to the Assembly's agenda the question labeled "Measures for the peaceful solution of the problem of prisoners of war."

Informed Western diplomats believed that under that heading the U.S. could demand inclusion of any American POWs held back by the Communists in Korea.

There is little doubt that despite bitter opposition from Soviet U.N. Delegate Andrei Vishinsky, the Assembly will accept the POW probe and lambaste Russia for what has been described in the past at U.N. as "the most outrageous crime in history" against war prisoners.

Long Under Inquiry
The problem of World War II POWs detained in Soviet areas has been under investigation for several years by a U.N. commission in Geneva. Its full report will be made shortly to Hammarskjöld and will form the basis of his presentation to the Assembly.

Primarily involved are Italian, German and Japanese soldiers. The Dominican Republic already has served notice it will demand an investigation of 100,000 Spanish soldiers captured by Republican forces during the Civil War and by the Russians in World War II from the Spanish "Blue Division" which fought against the Communists on Hitler's side.

The governments of Italy, Germany and Japan have placed extensive documented information at U.N. disposition on the missing POWs.

1,200,000 Germans Missing
Generalissimo Trujillo of the Dominican Republic said recently that he is prepared to submit all data on missing Spaniards to U.N.

The West German government said in its documentation that 1,300,000 German soldiers are listed as missing in action fought on the Eastern Front. A year ago, it said, the government completed 11 volumes containing the names of 1,320,966 German soldiers and on each of whom some sort of news had been received from various countries.

Most of them were known to be in Russian labor or prison camps in violation of all Geneva convention rules. One of the 11 volumes compiled by the German government listed 99,856 German prisoners known to be alive somewhere in Russia up to a year ago.

The West German government's documentation also added the information that 750,000 German civilians—a group of many women and children and persons 65 years of age—had been deported in recent years to the Soviet Union.

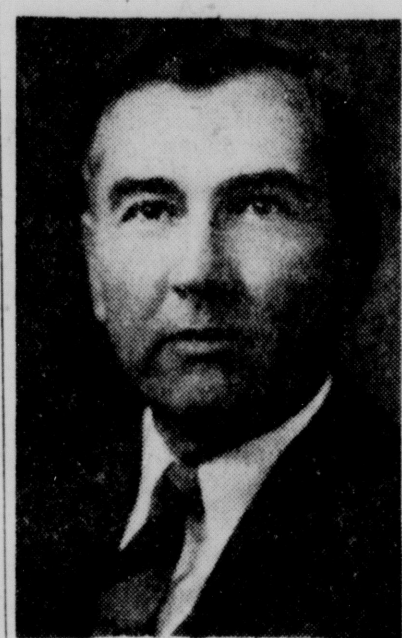

In addition, it said, 8,234 German civilians are being detained in Czechoslovakia and 8,910 in Poland. A specific complaint was contained that German children are being forcefully detained in Poland.

Gambling Check Of Concessions At Fair Planned

The usual check on concessions at the State Fair to determine whether there is gambling will be conducted this year, Atty. Gen. C. S. Beck said Friday while asserting there would be no letdown in enforcement of anti-gambling laws.

Policing "girlie shows" will not be attempted, he said, because there are no state laws to govern such exhibitions. Complaint was made last year on this type of show.

Edwin Schultz, secretary of the fair board, last week checked a musical revue to be shown on the midway. He reported that "strip tease" was not part of the act.

IRA D. BEYNON

Ira Beynon Named To Defense Job

Lincoln Attorney Ira D. Beynon has been named Director of Real Property in the Office of Assistant Secretary of Defense for Properties and Installations, Franklin G. Floete.

Announcement of appointment to the post, for which Beynon was "contacted" two weeks ago, came Friday, from the Department of Defense, according to the Associated Press.

Beynon has been in Washington since Wednesday, but he is expected back in Lincoln this weekend.

The Defense Department post is one of top-level management for defense and military installations in this country and overseas and will include acquisition and disposal of holdings in line with needs and use.

Active In GOP
Mrs. Beynon said she "expected to go back to Washington" with her husband when he assumes his new duties and that temporary quarters are available for them there.

Their son, David, 20, a junior in the engineering college at the University of Nebraska, will remain here, but their daughter, Ann, 18, a University sophomore may accompany them and enter the University of Maryland, she said.

Active in Republican politics, Beynon has managed many of U.S. Sen. Dwight Griswold's political campaigns.

After beginning his practice in Kearney in 1919, Beynon moved to Lincoln in 1926 to become counsel for the State Banking Department for six years. Since 1932 he has been in private practice in Lincoln. He is 57.

U. Of N. Grad
He has been an officer in the Nebraska Citizens Council since its organization and is president and board member of the Lincoln Federal Savings and Loan Association.

A University of Nebraska graduate, he is a past departmental commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and a member of the American Legion.

Beynon holds a doctorate of laws in addition to a bachelor of arts degree, 1917, and bachelor of laws degree, 1919, from the University of Nebraska.

—South Protests— Ruling On Pledges Reversed

No Discrimination Plan Withdrawn By Ag Department

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department retreated on a no racial discrimination issue Friday in the face of angry Southern protests.

The department announced there was "no conceivable need" for its previous action requiring private bankers to sign anti-discrimination pledges before taking part in the government's price support program.

Secretary Benson had hinted that the department might reverse itself when he commented recently that he thought the pledges were "unnecessary" and that the final determination might have to be made by President Eisenhower.

Friday's about-face was announced by John H. Davis, president of the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC), the department's farm lending agency, but when reporters asked Davis if the controversy had been "referred to Denver," he replied:

"You'll have to talk to Denver."

Support Loans
Denver is President Eisenhower's vacation headquarters. The pledges required bankers handling price support loans for the CCC to promise not to discriminate against any bank employees or job applicants because of race, creed or color.

Davis said lending agencies, many of which had balked in the South, were being notified as follows:

"We can now advise you that these agreements are of such a character that the inclusion of the (anti-discrimination) clause is unnecessary.

"There appears to be no practical reason for departing from past departmental practices of writing lending agency agreements without a non-discrimination provision. Employment of personnel is not a real factor in performing these lending functions and there is no conceivable need for the operation of such a clause in this field."

Describing the clause as "superfluous," Davis said any bank may scratch it out of the printed government form.

The department's action drew bitter criticism from Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

White said dropping the clause represented a capitulation to Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, one of its leading critics.

And he got his first taste of General Dean Enroute Home As Yank Hero

... Rhee Presents Highest ROK Award

TOKYO, Saturday (AP)—Major Gen. William F. Dean, the bazooka fighting commander of the first American troops in the Korean War, arrived in Tokyo today on the way home from three years in Communist captivity.

Dean was released yesterday at Pannunjom.

The Flying Fortress carrying the famed Medal of Honor winner touched down at 1:15 p.m. (10:15 p.m., CST, Friday) on the rain-swept runway of Tokyo's International Airport.

Aboard were two master sergeants from Dean's 24th Division, released along with their commander yesterday.

Dean stepped out of the plane and stood smiling in the rain as he posed for photographers.

Whisked to Hospital
Asked how long he would remain in Japan, the General replied, "I haven't any idea."

He was wearing freshly pressed green dungarees with the two-star insignia of his rank on the collar lapels and his cap. Dean was whisked off to Tokyo Army Hospital in an Army sedan. The Army had announced earlier that Dean would not be available on arrival here for interviews.

A few hours after his release yesterday, Dean told the story of his stand at Taejon against the onrushing Communist tank columns, his month long ordeal in the hills before capture and his experiences as the Reds' prize captive.

Long Heat Wave Cut Egg Production As Hot Spell Sent Hens To Cackling

The extreme heat of the last few weeks has had a noticeable effect on egg production. Both hatcheries and retailers of eggs for human consumption said the quantity of top grade eggs has been cut.

There is also an egg scarcity for hatching broiler chicks. One hatchery reported it could sell 10 times as many broiler chicks as are being hatched.

The heat wave had a two-fold effect on egg production for hatching purposes. A smaller percentage of eggs were suitable for hatching and hens did not lay as well. A local dealer reported that there is a greater egg shortage for hatching this year than existed at the same time last year.

Price of top grade eggs for human consumption has risen approximately two cents in the local market this week. The price raise apparently is due to the shortage of top quality eggs. A local poultryman said the price boost is unusual for the time of year since the extremely hot weather did not hit until late August.

Welcomes Planned For Local POWs

Two freed prisoners of war now on their way home to Lincoln appeared Friday night to be in store for bang-up welcomes when they arrive.

Merle Karnopp, exalted ruler of Elks Lodge 80, announced plans for city-wide welcomes when Cpl. Frank F. Effinger, 23, 1120 Peach, and Pvt. Jessie Singleton, 22, 2317 So. 9th, arrive in Lincoln sometime this month.

Plans are now very indefinite, Karnopp said, because the arrival time of the two men is not known. He said details would be worked out when their arrival dates are definitely known.

Karnopp stressed that the welcomes should be a city-wide affair and not restricted as to the groups participating. He invited participation by all fraternal and social groups in the city.

Preliminary plans, he said, call for the welcomes to start at a depot, assuming that the two ex-POWs will arrive by train. From there a parade—with banners, bands and all—will march to the Capitol where Gov. Robert Crosby and Mayor Clark Jeary will speak.

Committees to work out the numerous details of the celebrations, Karnopp said, will be named soon.

Effinger is scheduled to arrive in San Francisco at 3 p.m. Saturday aboard the Naval Hospital Ship Adder with 367 other POWs. Singleton's time of arrival in the U. S. is not yet known.

Edward Butts Dies At 77 Years

A fire department rescuer squad failed to revive Edward Butts, 77, late Friday night after he collapsed on the kitchen floor at the home of his son, Wilbur N. Butts, of 1421 N. 26th.

Police reported Mr. Butts had entered the kitchen for a glass of water at the time of his collapse. Mr. Butts, a resident of Lincoln for 38 years, was a retired carpenter and cabinet-maker.

Survivors are his wife, Augusta; five sons, Wilbur N. and Clifford E., both of Lincoln, Elmer W., Los Angeles, William M. and Marvin M., both of San Diego, Calif.; three daughters, Mrs. Vera C. White, Mrs. Alta Aberg, and Mrs. Leona Smack, all of Lincoln; one sister, Mrs. Briggs of Burlington, Ia., 24 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Name Your Pleasure—State Fair Can Provide It Sunday

The Nebraska State Fair, with a promise that it will be one of the biggest and best ever, opens Sunday at the fairgrounds in Lincoln.

Name your choice of entertainment, and it'll be at the Fair. There'll be everything from live-roasted to cookery, from carnival concessions to girlie shows—the latter labeled the "cleanest ever" and "really high class revues" by Fair Secretary Ed Schultz.

And advance ticket sales indicate attendance will be at least equal, and perhaps surpass, last year's.

Concessions are all taken up. Schultz reports, although he is having a last-minute siege of requests for hamburger and hot-dog stand concessions. And he's also got the usual rush of exhibitors with wares to show, 4-H members with prize cattle to feed and preen, and tangles of every sort to set straight before opening.

The swine show will be a big attraction added this year, since a swine disease cut out that part of the show in 1952. Beef shows, one of the finest set of stock yet exhibited at the Fair, Schultz indicated that fire loss of the fairgrounds hay barn will not mean a feed shortage for cattle but might mean feeding will be slowed.

Sunday is Veteran's Day at the Fair, and with it comes preliminary livestock judging along with judging cut flowers, a band concert, time trials in the big car racing, the Golden Palomino horse show, and several other items of entertainment.

'Stay Alert, Stay Alive,' Sanders Says

Recalling nine persons killed in state traffic accidents during the Fourth of July week end, Col. C. J. Sanders, head of the State Safety Patrol, issued this warning for the Labor Day period:

"Stay alert, and stay alive."

The fact that those nine persons died in the Fourth of July holiday should have a sobering effect on all drivers, Col. Sanders said as he listed these factors of alertness:

"Stay alert for the driver who fails to obey all traffic laws and be sure you heed these laws yourself."

"Stay alert for all traffic signs."

"Stay alert for changing road, traffic and weather conditions. Be sure your speed is reasonable and proper for existing conditions."

"Don't let yourself become fatigued by trying to drive too far in too short a time and above all, don't let your sense of good judgment be numbed by alcohol."

He concluded: "Your cooperation, or the lack of it, will determine what happens on our highways this weekend."

Trip To Russia Seems Closer For NU Student Editor

Kenneth F. Rystrom said Friday night he will make a three-week trip to Russia with other college newspaper editors if he can make financial arrangements and take time out from college without losing credit.

Rystrom, editor of the University of Nebraska campus newspaper, is one of seven such editors given permission to travel inside Russia by the Soviet Embassy.

A telegram Friday night from the Queens College Crown in Flushing, N.Y., originator of the idea, informed Rystrom that "The trip is on. Can you go?"

And a former editor of the University of Colorado Daily was reported saying he would go if only one other college editor would accompany him.

The trip is patterned after one made last spring by a group of professional editors who got behind the Iron Curtain with Soviet permission.

Prices Of Bread, Milk To Remain Static In Lincoln

Lincoln housewives need not worry about prices of bread and milk going up in the near future.

Although bread prices are being boosted one cent a loaf in Labor Day, local bakers reported they could foresee no boost in Nebraska.

Other bakers, who are increasing prices, said the raise was necessary because of the high cost of flour, labor and a few Lincoln bakers said they had been hit by an increase in cost of bread ingredients but it had not been of sufficient amount to warrant a price hike.

Local milk prices which have been affected previously by seasonal changes will remain stationary, dairymen reported. The last change was effective April 1 when price was lowered one cent a quart on the retail market.

One Day To Go On Exchange

Only One State Man Still Captive

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Communists in Korea Friday night (Nebraska time) released four more Nebraskans who had been prisoners of war.

They are:

1st Lt. Joseph V. Manto, Co. E, 9th Regiment, 2nd Division, whose home is Concord.

M. Sgt. Odie E. Mitchell, Co. G, 8th Regiment, 1st Cavalry Division, whose wife lives at Sidney.

Sgt. I. C. Carl W. Klevemann, Company B, 35th Regiment, 25th Division, of Fremont.

Sgt. I. C. Thomas M. Manka, Company M, 8th Regiment, 1st Cavalry Division, of Phillips.

Only one Nebraska POW, whose name appeared on the Communists' original 1951 list, remains to be exchanged. He is Jerome C. Construk of Juanita.

Nineteen Nebraskans have been released so far in the prisoner exchange, three of whom did not appear on the list.

Meanwhile both the Allies and Communists announced they would wind up the exchange of prisoners of the Korean War Saturday (U. S. time).

A record number of Americans was returned Friday night—275—to bring the total of Americans returned to 3,313, or 173 more than the number first promised by the Reds.

More Coming
The Reds said they would return 110 more Americans Saturday night on the final day.

At Phillips, Mrs. Harry Manka, mother of the sergeant, received first word of her son's release in a phone call from the Associated Press.

"Oh, I've been looking forward to that!" she exclaimed.

Mrs. Manka said her son, now 33, had been a prisoner since November, 1950. He had also seen combat duty in World War II, serving two years in Italy. He went to Korea after re-enlisting.

Mrs. Manka has two daughters and three other sons, one of whom, M/Sgt. Glenn Manka, is stationed in North Carolina with the Air Force.

At Fremont, H. W. Klevemann, father of Carl, got the first word of release of his son.

"That sounds good, extra good," he said.

Sgt. Klevemann, 26, was captured by the Communists in November, 1950, in North Korea.

First Nebraskan
Sgt. Solomon Thomas, first Nebraskan to return home after being freed in the prisoner exchange, had brought Mrs. Klevemann word that her son was "in as good health as I am."

Thomas said he and Klevemann had met in Red Prison Camp No. 5.

Sgt. Klevemann had served in the Army in World War II and re-enlisted and had been sent to Korea. He was in the front lines for about three months and was wounded in the hand.

After three weeks' hospitalization, he was sent back to the fighting and only hours later was listed as missing.

The Klevemanns have another son, Sgt. I. C. Walter Klevemann, in the Army. He is stationed in Japan.

How Wonderful!
"How wonderful!" exclaimed Mrs. Irene Manto, wife of Lt. Manto, when she received word at midnight Friday.

Manto, 37, was also a World War II veteran and had been a prisoner since November, 1950.

"Good news!" said Mrs. Duffy, mother-in-law of Sgt. Mitchell. The Sidney woman said Mitchell, 29, also was a World War II soldier who had re-enlisted.

Among the list of returned POWs were the following Kansans:

Ensign Dale Faler, USN. His wife lives in Independence, Kan.

Sgt. Earl L. Jones. His mother, Mrs. Ethel M. Hume, lives in Kansas City, Kan.

Sgt. David L. Lutz. His wife, Valda, lives in Norton, Kan.

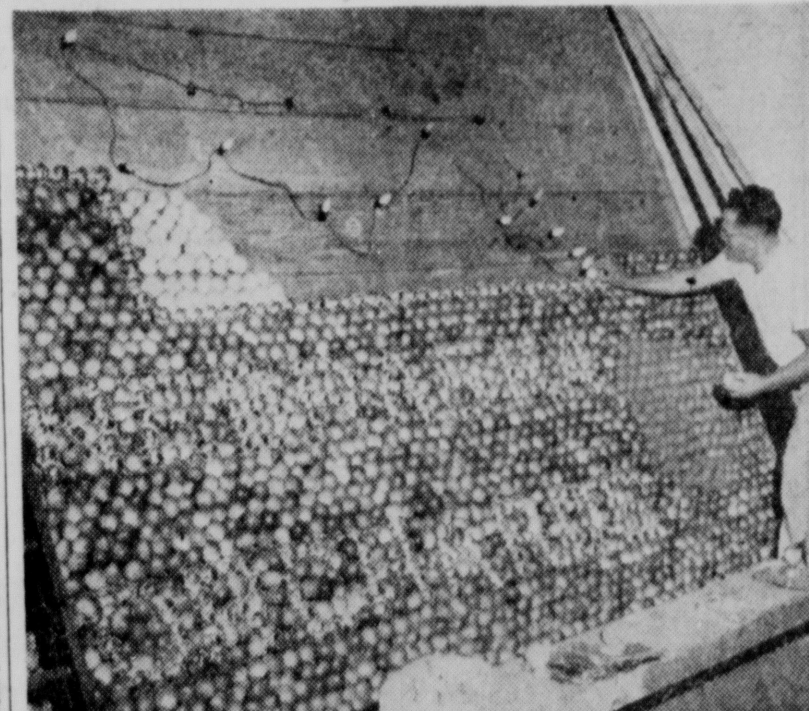

Sgt. George W. Glasgow. His mother, Blanche Glasgow, lives in Mulberry, Kan.

Traditional Apple Display Goes Up

Among exhibits going up at the State Fair Friday was this apple display, which will show the location of the commercial orchards in the state. Wayne Whitney, secretary of the Nebraska State Horticulture Society, sponsor of the display, lays apples in to fit the pattern. Each year the huge display made with apples depicts some map or picture for fairgoers. (Star Photo.)

Liquor At Messes Is Protested

Temperance Groups
Assail Army Order

WASHINGTON (AP)—Temperance forces arose Friday against a new Army order permitting liquor to be sold at officers' and non-commissioned officers' messes for the first time in more than 50 years.

Clayton M. Wallace, executive director of the National Temperance League, Inc., said the order may result in "tragic messes," and that his organization will consider asking Congress to make a change.

The president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, predicted in Evanston, Ill., that the new Army policy will bring a storm of protest from mothers.

"More than 20,000 ex-uniformed alcoholics have passed through Veterans' hospitals in the last three years," Mrs. Colvin said. The new order, she added, "will double this number."

By Drink Or Bottle
With commanders instructed to "encourage abstinence, enforce moderation and punish over-indulgence," liquor may now be sold by the drink or by the bottle to commissioned and non-commissioned officers over the age of 21.

The directive, issued by Maj. Gen. William E. Bergin, adjutant general, does not provide for sales to enlisted men below non-commissioned rank.

If used with moderation and restraint, Bergin told the Army, the new regulations will "serve to enhance the morale of all concerned."

A few hours after the army's new regulations became known, the Air Force announced it is putting the same system in effect at all its bases in the United States and its territories.

Rep. Short (R-Mo.), chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said the new regulations would give the Army and Air Force privileges which the Navy and Marine Corps "have long had."

Rep. Short (R-Mo.), chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said the new regulations would give the Army and Air Force privileges which the Navy and Marine Corps "have long had."

"It's better to have this situation under control than to let it get out of hand," he added, explaining that the services could maintain discipline better on their posts than in the bars and night clubs which frequently cluster around military installations.

Navy Given OK
For 50-Acre
Air Base Site

The House and Senate Armed Services Committees authorized the Navy to buy 50 acres of land adjoining the Lincoln Air Force Base to relocate the Naval Air Station.

A Senate committee spokesman said the Senate committee approved the 50-acre proposal after the House committee earlier had put an okay on the Navy's original plan to buy 70 acres, the Associated Press reported.

He said the Defense Department had informed the committee that 50 acres would be sufficient.

Capt. H. J. Murray, commander of the Air Station, said the Navy had made "strong representations" before the committees urging the approval of the 70-acre plan.

"No buildings will be cut from our construction program because of the approval of the lesser amount of land," Capt. Murray said. "It does mean that we will have to buy more land—at a probable higher price—for future developments."

Their Station commander said that after the "endless delays" connected with the relocation of the station, he was not sure when the construction program would begin.

"We will certainly start by spring and perhaps if we have an open winter there may be some grading done then," Capt. Murray said.

The commander indicated that contracts will be let soon after the land purchase is completed. The construction program calls for a multi-purpose hanger, supply building, public works building, a half-million gallon gas storage plant, heating plant, aircraft and road paving, power, sewage, and water facilities.

The purchase does not require new appropriations. The Navy has money to buy the land but approval by the House and Senate Armed Services committees was necessary before the purchase could be made.

Cutting the Navy request by 20 acres is "probably in line with the strict economy policies of the new administration," Capt. Murray said.

New site for the Naval Air Station is directly across the county road running south of the new municipal airport terminal.

Henry Spahn Named
Assistant Fire Chief

Henry Spahn, 55, 1340 Furnas, has been promoted to assistant fire chief following the retirement of Judy G. Schmidt who left the force on Aug. 16.

A former battalion chief in University Place, Spahn has been with the force 18 years. Other promotions include Ben Kuhnner, 40, 2613 No. 43rd, promoted to battalion chief after 17 years of service as a senior captain. Niel Cherry, 40, with the fire department 15 years, will become the new senior captain.

Vine Mimics Jack's Beanstalk

This sky-scraping cucumber vine evidently is out to beat the fairy tale record of Jack's beanstalk. Mrs. Eugene Martin of 2010 So. 27th is dwarfed by the nine-foot vine as she measures one of its leaves—nine and one-half inches across. Mrs. Martin says she and her husband have only a small garden space so they have trained the vines to grow up instead of spreading over the ground. Not only is this cucumber vine of giant size, Mrs. Martin reports the cucumbers are "large and smooth and the best-tasting we've ever had." (Star Photo)

Missing Girl's Parents Leave Lincoln Sure Daughter Seen

The parents of Karen Talbot, the missing Rushville girl, left Lincoln Friday "reasonably sure" the girl reported seen here Friday, Aug. 21, was their daughter. Sheriff Wendell Hills of Rushville, who was in Lincoln with the Talbotts, also returned home with them.

As the search swings into the 17th day since the girl's disappearance, a Lincoln waitress' statement that she saw Karen in a downtown restaurant is one of the few definite leads authorities have since she was reported missing.

The Lincoln woman told authorities she first noticed the girl because of the sweater she was wearing. The sweater was white with the letters "R.H.S." printed on the back in orange and black. Karen Talbot reportedly was wearing a similar high school band sweater at the time of her disappearance.

The waitress also told officials the girl was with an older man who is described as being 45 to 50 years old, weighing 180 pounds, 5'8" to 5'10" tall, wearing a white shirt and gray trousers. The man is also reported as being partially bald.

At the time Karen was allegedly seen in Lincoln, she had been missing almost 24 hours. Karen, 13, disappeared in Rushville Thursday evening, Aug. 20, after she and a girl friend had been to see a movie. The girls parted to go to their respective homes and authorities believe Karen disappeared some two blocks from her home.

She is described as being of slender build, 5'4" tall, weighing 120 pounds, and having blue eyes and brown hair.

City Gets Bond Report From Board

Sale Of $6 Million
Suggested To Council

The City Council has received for study a 24-page bond issue history or prospectus from the Water Advisory Board with a recommendation to sell $6 million of water department revenue bonds.

The prospectus will be studied over the week end by the Council and may be approved Tuesday at the regular Council meeting. After approval, the document will be sent to Chapman and Cutler, Chicago bond attorneys, for their use in preparing the necessary bond ordinance.

The ordinance, which will give the Council authority to issue the bonds authorized by the people last May, will also become a part of the prospectus.

The prospectus will then be sent to prospective bond buyers across the country. Byron Dunn, chairman of the Water Advisory Board, said he hopes that all details can be taken care of and the bonds sold sometime in October.

The board report stated that the original plans to issue $5 million in bonds have been changed because of information obtained from eastern bond buyers and the possibility of drawing a better interest rate for the city.

Also, the first payments on the bonds will come due in 1954 rather than five years after the issue as originally planned. This is also the result of advice from bond buyers and hope for a better interest rate.

The $6 million dollar issue will be amortized over a 30 year period with the final payment becoming due in 1983. This will call for annual payments of about $306,000 per year based on an anticipated 3 per cent interest rate.

The board report points out that anticipated revenues in the water department should meet all bond payments and give an additional amount sufficient to complete all of the first phase water improvements estimated by Black & Veatch, consulting engineers from Kansas City, Mo., at $6,224,124.

Also, the new water rates should provide funds in the amount of $2,491,876 to complete at a later date all of stage one improvements without an additional bond issue.

Beer Tax Views

Another exchange of letters has been made between Tal Coonrad, chairman of the State Liquor Commission, and Arthur C. Storz, Omaha brewery official, over a demand of the Commission that the brewery pay $48.87 tax on beer sold to civilians at Offutt Air Force Base during the July 5 auto races.

In a letter accompanying the payment, Storz had expressed doubt whether you could prove the beer was actually consumed by civilians because there were 5,000 men in uniform on the base watching races at the same time.

He asserted the brewery was not legally or morally responsible for anything that happens to beer "after it has left our hands and delivered to the distributor or retailer."

Coonrad replied: "You knew this particular operation was going to involve civilians and anyone knows that large scale tax-free sale of beer to civilians was never intended."

"The whole thing boils down to the fact that responsible licensees like yourself knowingly participated in a project resulting in the large scale sale of tax-free beer to civilians."

Comment Refused
On Appointment
Of Assistant DA

U. S. District Attorney Donald R. Ross, who was in the Lincoln office Friday, had "no comment" as to an appointment of an assistant U. S. district attorney for Lincoln.

Ross, who with one of his Omaha assistants, John E. Deming, spent the day getting acquainted, seeing callers, and the checking over cases here, parried all questions speculating on the appointment of Charles H. Thone, now an assistant state attorney general, to the federal post.

The Lexington lawyer making his first appearance in Lincoln since assuming his new duties, repeated an earlier statement that he anticipated no changes in the Omaha staff for the present, although he said Edward J. Tangney has resigned.

Bookstrom Construction Gets Yankee Hill Sewer Contract

The board of directors of Sanitary District 1 has awarded a contract to H. R. Bookstrom Construction Company on its bid of $27,917.50 for construction of the Yankee Hill sanitary sewer.

The contract calls for laying 6,258 feet of eight-inch sewer and 173 manholes. The sewer will run from Lincoln and Folsom to Burnham, west on Burnham 1,400 feet and 1,000 feet west on both Stockwell and Calvert.

Property owners in the area of 66th and O also re-opened the question of sewer service to Strauss Bros. newly platted Eastridge addition east of Piedmont. The delegation contended the sewer to be built would serve no one but Strauss and that the line should be big enough to allow other connections.

Strauss is paying for the sewer to run from 70th and O to the north line of his addition. The opponents to that line want the main run from Eastridge to 66th and O and offered to share in the cost of a larger main.

The delegation was advised to contact Strauss Bros. for a possibility of forming a district for construction of the sewer.

The board also heard a request from Chauncey E. Barney, attorney representing Bartlett & Company Realtors and Sweeney Construction Company for construction of a sanitary sewer to serve a proposed housing development between 41st and Calvert east of Highway 77.

Barney pointed out that the sewer would have to drain to the south into the old Penitentiary sewer which is now overloaded. That sewer runs from the penitentiary around the west part of Lincoln up to N where it connects to a city sewer.

Walter B. Coale, District engineer, said a new sewer from the penitentiary up to South would cost approximately $85,000. Coale has previously said such a line is necessary.

Wesleyan Frosh,
Added Students
Guests At Mixer

Freshmen and new students at Nebraska Wesleyan University were guests at a new student-faculty mixer Friday night.

The evening capped an initial day of freshmen orientation day activities, launching the program which ends with class organization Wednesday.

Wesleyan officials said no tabulation of new student enrollment will be available before the middle of next week after late comers have had their names placed on the registration roster.

But it was predicted that the freshman roll would exceed 250 persons, and that the over-all figure would reach the 650 mark of a year ago.

Saturday will be taken up with an explanation of registration procedures, meetings with personal deans and a new student-YM-YW retreat in the afternoon.

Freshmen will register Monday, completing the round of orientation activities Tuesday. Upper classmen will also register Tuesday.

Nebraska Woman Held In Tourist Court Robberies

VALDESTA, Ga. (AP)—Bridgeport, Neb., woman is being held here in connection with dozens of tourist court car robberies which have taken place from Missouri to Florida.

She gave her name as Louise Muhr of Bridgeport. Two men were arrested in the same case.

Chief of Police Wilbur Perkins said subsequent investigation and questioning revealed widespread looting. About $3,000 worth of cameras and other loot was found in their car here.

The men were identified as Everett Whit and Rex Core of Dallas, Tex.

Perkins said the men were caught as they looted cars at a Valdosta tourist court and the woman was arrested when she drove up to pick them up.

Funk, Aurora Build Fertilizer Tanks

Pictured above is an anhydrous ammonia storage unit called a Hortonsphere and two spheres, similar to this, will be constructed at sites near Funk and Aurora. The tanks each contain enough nitrogen fertilizer to fertilize over 58,000 acres of crops at the rate of 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre. (Photo Special to The Star.)

Funk, Aurora Chosen As Sites For Spherical Storage Tanks

The largest single units in the midwest for the storage of anhydrous ammonia (used as a nitrogen fertilizer) are under construction at two sites near Funk and Aurora, announced C. W. Bourg of Lincoln, company spokesman.

The storage units, spherical shaped tanks called Hortonspheres, will each contain sufficient nitrogen to fertilize over 58,000 acres of crops at the rate of 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre.

The Funk Fertilizer Company of Funk and the P-V Chemical Company of Aurora, both nitrogen fertilizer distributors, are building the storage tanks at their sites.

Bourg said the Funk storage tank will be assembled on or about Oct. 3. The site is located approximately three miles west of the town on Highway 6. Assembling of the Hortonsphere at Aurora is expected to begin by Oct. 10 and the Aurora site is three miles west of the city on Highway 34.

Both Hortonspheres are expected to be in operation by Dec. 1, Bourg said.

The spheres, which will contain 55 tankloads or 630,000 gallons of ammonia, are supported on 10 steel legs and are 62 feet high and more than 54 feet wide.

Bourg said the big storage tanks will augment the 36 smaller nitrogen storage units in the state. Smaller units are now being constructed at David City, Shelton and Bee. These units range from a 6,000 to 30,000-gallon capacity.

Farmers using the nitrogen fertilizer will be able to buy directly from the Aurora and Funk spheres, Bourg said, and the spheres will also be used to supply smaller units.

Water required to keep the spheres at a 50 degree temperature will be supplied by wells drilled at the sites.

The general contract for excavation, concrete work, scale and building installations has been awarded to the G. H. Morrison Construction Company of Omaha.

NEA Official Predicts High Enrollment

OMAHA (AP)—The United States can look for 10 million more school students by 1960, Dr. Lyle W. Ashby, official of the National Education Association, said.

Quoting statistics to show that one million more students are enrolled in elementary and high schools this September than a year ago, he said each following September would see the figure raised another million.

To meet the demand, he continued, 45,000 elementary teachers were needed last September. The teacher quota was raised to 64,000 this year and with little hope of meeting the need.

Dr. Ashby warned, however, that lowering standards for teachers is not the answer. In some Nebraska rural schools, he said, any person with 12 college teacher credits can head a classroom.

"You certainly wouldn't let a man with only 12 hours of medicine operate on you," Dr. Ashby, assistant secretary for the NEA, told members of the Omaha Education Association.

Other officers named at the concluding session of the three-day meeting included Mrs. Ellis Anderson of Grand Island, first vice president, and Mrs. J. W. Morgan of Lexington, treasurer.

Another Dulles Bull

There was general agreement in this country at the time the Eisenhower administration took over that John Foster Dulles would make an excellent secretary of state.

Either the gods have been very unkind to Mr. Dulles or he is a greatly overrated man. Whichever it is, Mr. Dulles is getting himself into a position where alongside him his predecessor, Dean Acheson, the target of the most bitter, savage and we may add, unjustified attacks, will have the stature of a giant.

Mr. Dulles set out to help the campaign of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. At a press conference he expressed the opinion that the defeat of Mr. Adenauer in next Sunday's election would cause confusion and delay solution of the German problem. That may be Mr. Dulles' opinion and he undoubtedly is upon sound ground in reaching it, but it was not the thing to say. We have only to recall what our own resentment would be against the interference of other peoples' governments into American elections to measure the unfavorable furor which Mr. Dulles' statement has created in West Germany.

Chancellor Adenauer will be lucky to pull through. If he does, it will be no thanks to Secretary Dulles.

Lincoln And Its Neighbors

Mayor Clark Jeary of Lincoln must have felt keenly the limitations of his authority to supply water to farmers beyond the corporate limits of the city, whose wells were going dry and who needed water for livestock.

The mayor is a kindly, neighborly man, who knows a little bit about the farm and its needs and we are quite sure that nothing would have given him greater pleasure than to have said to the seekers of water: "Help yourself, neighbor."

When it comes to neighborly relations, Mr. Jeary could give lessons to some of his critics. At the same time, we can't think of anything that has affected some of the people outside more than the thinly-disguised hostility which City Director Dave Erickson either thoughtlessly or deliberately has revealed in his conflicts with agencies of the Nebraska public power system. First it was Consumers, and now it is a battle with the Nebraska hydros over rates.

It is hardly logical to criticize the mayor—mildly, it is true—for a lack of appreciation of Lincoln's genuine spirit of neighborliness toward the rest of the state, and overlook the long years of conflict between the municipal light plant, under the direction of Mr. Erickson, and the generating and distribution agencies of the state power system. After all, this state public power system is an integral part of an expanding irrigation program, which involves the storage of waste and flood waters for use in times of drought to stabilize Nebraska farm production.

In neighborly spirit here in Nebraska we are quite sure that the people living in Lincoln and those living outside the city realize

Of Men And Things

Even state fairs change in the education and entertainment they offer to the milling crowds. Nebraska's State Fair goes back to the state's earliest beginnings. At one of its early fairs, the distinguished editor of a Chicago farm publication spoke for more than two hours in a broiling sun in support of a land view now generally repudiated.

He used a good many thousand words to persuade these pioneer Nebraskans that they were contributing to moisture supply by breaking the sod. It was his theory that the underground water was drawn to the surface in a cultivated field. A sod covering, he said with all the eloquence at his command, bottled up underground water but with Old Sol's help in beating down upon freshly turned earth, the sun's rays drew the water to the surface. For months there was a controversy among those who heard him. Now there is general agreement that a great deal of land, particularly in this plains region, under cultivation, should have been left in grass. Nebraska is the least offender in that particular, admitted that in the central and western counties, and perhaps in some instances in the east, land has been put to the plow which in the best conception of intelligent land use never should have been brought into cultivation.

A friend was speaking yesterday of a trip which had taken him into a portion of the Nebraska Sandhills. He had driven west and then north to the Niobrara, cut south again to the Calamus and the North Loup, over into the Middle Loup and then homeward. It was hot and there had been no rain for days. Corn showed the effects of the heat. But it was different in the tall grass country. The hills were green and the flats bordering upon clear streams, lush. It is not far down to water in any of that Sandhill region.

One of Nebraska's venerated geologists frequently tells the wonders of that subterranean water table which underlies the Nebraska Sandhills. It is not necessary to explore too deeply, as a rule, to find water there. In moments of reverie, one can conjure up the tall peaks of the Rockies eternally snow-covered, summer and winter, high in the azure skies, their rocky slopes under the summer sun shedding the water that constitutes the underground supplies of a region hundreds of miles distant. We crossed on foot a portion of a great tunnel that cuts through a peak forming a part of the Continental Divide some years ago. Along the rails of the railroad which built and uses that tunnel were small metal drains carrying a steady stream of water, the seepage from the snows that covered that mountain crest.

Now we know that in sound conservation practice, we shall give much more attention to restoring to grass areas which sky-high agricultural prices drew irresistibly into cultivation. And the whole broad field of rebuilding the underground water table upon which a mature nation draws so heavily, and frequently thoughtlessly, will receive mounting attention. It is not simply of concern in the Great Plains. From the eastern to the western seaboard, great cities and the rural areas at their elbows are piling more and more insistent demands upon this underground water table. Its restoration will become one of the great objectives of conservation in the century that lies ahead.

DREW PEARSON

Police Chief Gave Aid To Friendly Gamblers

WASHINGTON. — The citizens of Charlotte, N.C., have appointed a committee to study the police of that state and church-going community. The committee, consisting of a preacher, a druggist and a businessman, seem sincerely anxious to do a good job, and here is some information which may help them.

When the Kefauver Crime Committee dug into the racketeering of Frank Erickson, the big-shot gambler now in jail, they ran into the manner in which he organized off-track betting in that mecca of winter vacationists, Miami. Erickson, according to Kefauver committee testimony, placed his men inside the track together with a series of bookmakers outside the track in the leading hotels of Miami. All of this was strictly illegal.

One of the operators who handled the bets for Erickson was named Allen Cantor, who, according to the testimony of Abe Allenberg, "handled the come-back money."

"That is the money that is bet, that is called to a telephone somewhere in the neighborhood (of the track) and they would come to the track and would bet it on the horses," Allenberg testified.

"Who are the people who operated inside the track for Erickson?" Committee Counsel Halley asked.

"Briggs, Cantor, Zeldow," was the reply.

There was other testimony by Dan Sullivan of the Miami Crime Commission, also naming Al Cantor as an Erickson agent.

Now the interesting thing about Mr. Cantor is that he and his brother Irving once operated their gambling racket in staid church-going Charlotte, N.C., at which time the Cantors were on the most friendly terms with the man who is now chief of police, Frank Littlejohn.

Information which came to me from Washington and Kefauver investigation sources indicated that Police Chief Littlejohn, then chief of detectives in Charlotte, once had sought to stop a nationwide search for Allen Cantor when he was wanted as a material witness in a Washington murder. The information also indicated that Lamar Caudle of North Carolina, before he joined the Justice Department, had been approached by Littlejohn in an effort to stop the search for Cantor.

These reports went into considerable detail but in order to check the complete accuracy of these reports I called Mr. Caudle and he admitted that, prior to becoming U. S. attorney in western North Carolina, he, as a lawyer, had been called by Littlejohn to the apartment of Irving Cantor in Charlotte. Mr. Caudle said at that time he had not known either of the Cantors and had not known that they operated a gambling ring in Charlotte.

Littlejohn, he admitted, had told him that the Washington police were looking for Allen Cantor in connection with the murder of a newsboy in the Albin Towers Apartment in Washington, and according to Cantor, was about to issue a description of Cantor to be posted at all police offices, in order to apprehend him.

Littlejohn told Caudle that it would be most embarrassing if the poster were put up on post office bulletin boards. He didn't say so, but obviously it would be impossible for a gambler to operate if wanted by the police in connection with a murder case. He asked Caudle, as a lawyer, to go to Washington to head off the poster.

Caudle went to Washington, and on the instruction of Police Chief Littlejohn, sought out Washington Police Inspector Floyd Truscott. However, Truscott was in Hagerstown, Md., attending a police meeting. Caudle drove to see him there, gave him the message from Littlejohn and asked him to call Littlejohn in Charlotte.

Inspector Truscott did so. Littlejohn said that he could vouch for Cantor, said Cantor could add nothing to the murder case in Washington. Truscott observed that the murder case had now been solved and agreed to tear up the poster asking for Cantor's apprehension.

Later Cantor's brother Irving came to Caudle, also through the good offices of Littlejohn, and asked him as an attorney to handle an income tax matter. Internal Revenue had assessed Irving Cantor a tax of $44,000. This turned out to be a tax on gambling winnings.

Caudle took the matter up with the regional office of Internal Revenue in Greensboro, N. C., and, after various negotiations, a tax settlement was paid. Irving Cantor is now reported operating in Chicago.

These are the brief, bare facts about the man who is now police chief of Charlotte and his friendship with gamblers. Mr. Caudle was not anxious to talk about the matter, but I am convinced that he told the truth, just as he has told the truth before the Keating committee to an extent that he won its public praise.

While these events occurred some years ago, they are events which the people of Charlotte have a right to know about in their laudable desire to improve police conditions in their city. It will be up to them to judge whether a police inspector who befriended a gambling ring in the past is the type who will be on the alert to root out gambling in the present and future.

WASHINGTON WHIRL

Mrs. Arthur Radford, wife of the new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, lost out in the scramble for the three fanciest military homes, but now she is getting even with the other military wives. Though she ended up in a rear admiral's house at the Naval Gun Factory, extensive renovations have been ordered. The home will be made suitable for the wife of a four-star admiral. "These changes should have been made long ago," complained Mrs. Radford. "But," she worries, "I suppose now some columnist will write that the house wasn't good enough for Adm. Radford and he had to have it torn apart." . . . Gen. Taine Twining, Air Force chief of staff, received a startling letter from his son, announcing that he wanted to quit the Air Force. Alarmed, the elder Twining rushed a fatherly letter to his son, urging him to change his mind. But the answer came back, a firm "no soap."

ARCH DONOVAN

In Step With The Sower

State Engineer L. N. Ress, just returned from California, wants it distinctly understood that he was on a vacation and not taking a "busman's holiday."

"I flew out and back, so don't inquire what I think of the highways in the various states," Ress explained.

When the Sower admitted that he also had been in Los Angeles and had ridden over nearly 5,000 miles of highways, he had his own opinions. Ress admitted that he had indulged in some auto travel.

"I looked Arch Donovan over every freeway in Los Angeles," he explained. The four level crossings of highways particularly intrigued him from an engineering standpoint.

Lake most out-of-state drivers, Ress admitted that he found it much easier to get on a limited access freeway than to be in the proper lane at the right time to get off, and told of visiting Pasadena as a result.

The state engineer like the Sower was interested in the system used in California and other western states of eliminating many of the "stop signs" in smaller towns and suburban corners where there was no heavy cross traffic.

Instead, stops are required only when pedestrians are crossing at intersections. The western driver is trained to stop if a pedestrian steps off the curb at such corners and the pedestrian to cross at intersections rather than in the middle of a block.

If both adhere to the traffic policy it avoids congestion and much of the useless "stop-and-go" that irritates motorists when unnecessary. But failure of either motorists or pedestrians to obey could greatly increase the safety hazard.

The much publicized high speed on Los Angeles freeways is a thing of the past notwithstanding loud wails of motorists that reductions will result in traffic snarls in the city with the most motor vehicles of any in the nation.

The 80 and 90 mile speeds on the multi-lane and limited access thoroughfares have been reduced to 55 miles per hour. The boast of the fastest highways in any city was a hard thing to lose for Los Angeles.

The Sower heard that there is a good possibility that the budget committee of the Legislature will recommend at the next session that a comptroller be added to the present list of state officials. Such a move was under consideration several years ago.

More power in a centralized control of fiscal operations and bookkeeping procedures are believed necessary by a number of state officials. Institutions operated by independent boards are reported inclined to disregard practices which are required by officials for other state offices.

Cash revolving funds which some institutions contend are necessary in their operation seem to be the chief cause of complaint. The intake and outgo of these funds, some officials say, completely distort the actual operating costs of the institutions.

Legislators in turn have expressed the opinion that the system in use permits an institution to make expenditures for things that the budget committee and governors had refused to accept in appropriation requests by the institutions.

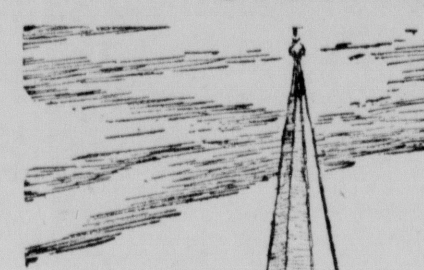

The officials make it clear that there is no personal profit or unlawful use of state money but the present system does permit deviations from "legislative intent."

Deputy Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer has a harried look on his face not caused by duties normally associated with the office. It is "Professor" Meyer now as he conducts classes in law enforcement at the school for rookie patrolmen being conducted by Col. C. J. Sanders and the State Safety Patrol.

"One or two talks wouldn't be bad," the professor says. "But to plan a series of 30 lectures and fully cover the instruction needed brings wrinkles to the brow of a lawyer who has concentrated on the practice of his profession."

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

O GOD OF BETHEL

O God of Bethel, by whose hand
Thy people still are fed;
Was through this weary pilgrimage
Hast all our fathers led.
Our vows, our prayers, we now present
Before Thy Throne of Grace:
God of our fathers, be the God
Of their succeeding race.

Oh, spread thy covering wings around,
Till all our wanderings cease,
And at our Father's loved abode
Our souls arrive in peace!

Such blessings from thy gracious hand
Our humble prayers implore;
And Thou shalt be our chosen God,
And portion evermore.

By HORACE B. POWELL

"Hymns Founded on Various Texts In The Holy Scriptures" was the title of a song book containing the hymns of the Rev. Philip Doddridge, English clergyman, which was published by friends of the preacher-poet several years after his death, in 1751.

It was an appropriate caption, for nearly all of the songs in the volume had been written during the poet's lifetime to be sung at the close of sermons which he preached, from Sunday to Sunday, for his Northampton parishioners. Each of them had been inspired by a weekly Bible text.

His hymn, "O God Of Bethel," was written to follow a sermon on "Jacob's Vow," based on the verses in Genesis 28:20 to 22:

"And Jacob vowed a vow, saying, If God will be with me, and will keep me in this way that I go, and will give me bread to eat, and raiment to put on,
"So that I come again to my father's house in peace; then shall the Lord be my God:
"And this stone, which I have set for a pillar, shall be God's house: and of all that Thou shalt give me I shall surely give the tenth unto Thee."

Doddridge was born in London in 1702. His parents died while he was still a child and he was reared by relatives. When he was ready for college a prominent and wealthy Englishwoman offered to pay his university expenses at Oxford. But, as a condition of her philanthropy, she announced that Doddridge must, upon completing his studies, become a minister of the Church of England.

The young preacher-to-be, whose sympathies were with the Independent Church, refused her offer. Instead of going to Oxford he entered a non-conformist seminary and at 21, following his graduation from theological school, he was ordained so that he might accept his first pastorate at Kibworth.

For Future Fishing

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce shares the viewpoint of the "Fisherman's Wife" (Lincoln Star, Sept. 3) who believes that "... what fishermen really crave is a place where they can catch fish—a well-stocked lake."

The stocking of the lakes is under the jurisdiction of the State Game, Forestation and Parks Commission. Since July 1 the west lake has been stocked five times. There have been three stockings of the east (boating) lake. The west lake alone has been stocked with approximately 23,830 fish. The quantity of fish stocked depends entirely upon the quantity the Game Commission is able to take in their various seining operations.

While bare, bumpy roads may not bother fishermen, they are of considerable concern to conservation authorities who want to protect the original investment and increase value for future fishermen. Soil erosion is now a serious problem at Oak Creek Park. Dirt washing into the lakes was already affecting the quality of the water for fishing. Therefore it was recommended that a permanent protective covering of grass, trees and shrubs be established along the entire shoreline. Before this can be done, a traffic system and parking areas must be established. That is why the Women's Division is staging the drive to accelerate construction of roads and parking areas.

It takes a lot of planning, effort and money to keep a good road good." However, Oak Creek Park will start on a sound foundation of planned roads, which has not always been the case in other city parks, according to the City Park Department. Minimum upkeep requirement is one of the key points in the plan. Even excess water will automatically drain into the lakes, having first been filtered through grassed waterways.

We have also seen the crowds when the lakes were stocked. While the shoreline is always crowded with cars and fishermen, none of the proposed picnic areas are used because they are out of the way of the lakes and there is nothing there at present to create interest. Picnic tables are a minor part of the plan which was developed solely to improve the quality of fishing and boating at Oak Creek Park.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I would like to compliment Sports Editor Norris Anderson on his fine writeups about the Lincoln Chiefs. All season he has given them fine support and has reflected the enthusiastic spirit of the team and the fans.

Keep up the good work!

What Is It, Then?

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: So the English dictionary states that the word, "gamble," is to play for money.

It seems that bingo is rated as gambling in the state of Nebraska, yet the player does not receive money. He receives prizes of fruits, hardware, etc. Yet bingo is ridiculed in this state. It is unlawful for a man to go to a bingo game and play until midnight for only about a dollar and 50 cents, perhaps winning a prize of some sort. But it is perfectly legal to go

The Same Mistakes

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Most assuredly, if I wrote a million years on the subject of our foreign and domestic policies, I could not add anything to your remarkable editorials. However, this happy medium of views does not appear sufficient to dissipate the fears and anguishes of the American people.

Why should they look to a little fellow like me for a ray of hope and an encouraging word? I don't quite get it. The reason for this may reside in the fact that I can't see one Communist in the crowds I come in contact with, and I say to you and to them that so long as we stand by our principles of democracy, we need not fear treason in our midst.

Another reason is that I am a Legionnaire of long standing. It used to be a great stabilizing factor in our midst, but from leader to leader it has disintegrated from its high ideals to the point where little respect is accorded the people's views. They want to know what's wrong with us, when at every turn they have applauded our stand.

The explanation of these unhappy circumstances does not belong to me. It's up to our leaders. My contention is that we've fought two wars to rid the world of autocratic oppression. Many nations have spilled their blood in streams to see us come out on top. Their deeds and ways of life were all different from ours but bounded together to fight for a common cause. We prevailed over an enemy that had so easily blocked our seaports and traffic lanes, but the memory of these anxious days were short-lived, with the result that our flights of anger disrupted the fine unity that had welded us together to overcome the great conflict and one by one our best allies are deserting us because we are repeating the same mistakes that we made after World War I.

Theta, BSP, Activities

At their first fall meeting Wednesday evening, the members of Theta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, heard a short talk by Miss Esther Lewis of Kansas City, international traveling representative for the sorority, who was introduced by the chapter president, Miss Marvella George.

Announcement was made of the city-wide sorority Friendship tea to be held Wednesday evening, Sept. 9, in the Georgian room of the Hotel Cornhusker, and tentative plans for the city-wide initiation tea to be held later in the month were discussed.

Mrs. James Novotne and Miss Wauneta Sharp were appointed to represent the chapter on the new procedure committee of the sorority's city council, and plans were discussed for a rush party for 33 guests to be held in the near future. The rush captain, Miss Betty Koutsy, will be in charge of pledge training. The new study manuals were distributed, and a report was made by Miss Doris Blackman, chairman of the ways and means committee.

White chrysanthemums formed the appointments for the chancel and altar of St. Rose Church, Neptune, N.J., where the marriage of Miss Janet Anne Ziegenbein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ziegenbein of Lincoln, to Kenneth Alvan Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Sherman of Neptune City, took place on Saturday morning, Aug. 1. The 11 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Peter J. Teston, rector of St. Rose, in the presence of 150 guests.

Miss Evelyn Sherman of Neptune City was the maid of honor and was frocked in a strapless, ballerina-length frock of yellow organza with which she wore a short bolero jacket. Sherry Lynn Killman, wearing pale green ruffled net over taffeta, was the flower girl.

Tony Merrill of St. Louis served Mr. Sherman as best man, and seating the guests were Merrill Killman of Manassas, N.J., and Paul Sherman.

The bride appeared in a gown of white silk organza designed in the princess mode. The wide skirt was danseuse length, and was fashioned with a handkerchief drape that curved over the hips toward the back where it was finished with a wide bow. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held to the head with a halo brim of tulle, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and sweetpeas. To complete her ensemble the bride wore a white organza stole, and organza mitts.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Deck club, Belmar, N.J., after which Mr. Sherman and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to the Pocono mountains in Pennsylvania.

All Was Not Lost

Liam B. Rose is back in town after a month's stay on the west coast where she was the guest of her brother and

MRS. JOHN FRERICHS and her daughter, Stacey, who are spending a few days as the house guests of the young Miss Stacey's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Frerichs, before leaving for Boston where they will join Lieut. Frerichs, USN.

WELL SHAME on us for having an unauthorized chatter column that has been shrinking approximately an inch a moment this morning — But we know how interested you will be in the picture of Mrs. John Frerichs and the young daughter, Stacey — and that you will want to know about Anne Ziegenbein's wedding back in New Jersey — and that you will be happy to know that we are correcting an error (it seems that the other day our two young fiancés were mixed up — as to pictures that is —) so, all was not lost.

AND NOW before we become too involved in other matters we'll tell you that Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Dawson of Denver have announced the birth of a son — A Delta Upsilon legacy some 17 years from now — on Thursday, Sept. 3. Mrs. Dawson is the former Billette Trombla, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Trombla and a Kappa Alpha Theta at the University of Nebraska. The young man's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lawson of Denver.

MRS. NORMAN SUNDEEN

To Be Morning Bride

Shirley Brinkmeyer of Cortland and Miss Eunice Pretz of Scribner, and the flower girl, Miss Cheryl Dian Obermire, will wear a miniature bridal gown of white satin and lace. Joseph G. Obermire of Stuart will serve as best man, and the ushers will be Maurice Norton of Elgin, and Eugene Rutherford of Bassett.

For her wedding, Miss Rutherford has chosen a gown of ivory satin and Chantilly lace. A decollete necklace and long fitted sleeves accent the lace bodice, and beneath a snug midriff, the satin extends into a drape peplum edged with pleated tulle and caught into a bustle to complete the full lace skirt. A Victorian coronet of lace trimmed with seed pearls will hold her silk illusion veil, and she will carry a cascade of white roses and stephanotis.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 250 guests will be held at the Stuart auditorium. For their short wedding trip, Miss Rutherford will wear a beige linen ensemble with red accessories.

The couple will reside in Lincoln where Mr. Obermire is a senior at the University of Nebraska college of agriculture. Miss Rutherford is a former student at the National Business Institute in Lincoln.

played the wedding music and also accompanied Glen Willis and Miss Juanita Miller, vocalists. Lighting the candles were Miss Marilyn Laughlin of Elmwood, Miss Donita Snyder, Dwight Morrow and Roger Bell, all of Lincoln.

Wearing identical frocks of taffeta in tones shading from pale hyacinth to deep orchid were the maid of honor, Miss Juanita Miller of St. Paul, Minn., the bridesmatron, Mrs. Marlin Sundeen of Alvo, the bridesmaids, Miss Joan Hedges of Waverly and Miss Darlene Snyder of Lincoln, and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Sally Ann Sundeen. They carried bouquets of lavender gladioli and white Marguerite daisies. Frocked in pale lavender net was the flower girl, Miss Ellen Sue Robertson of Alvo, and the ringbearer was Lydell Otley of Waverly.

The bride appeared in a gown of ivory satin designed in the period mode. Seed pearls patterned the deep yoke of tulle which was framed by the satin of the bodice in the drop-shoulder mode, and the sleeves were long and fitted. The circular skirt ended in a train, and her veil of illusion was held by a tiara of pearls and sequins. She wore a garnet ring, a gift of the bridegroom, and carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis centered with an orchid.

Marlin Sundeen of Alvo served as best man, and the ushers were Harold Jewett, Waverly, Marvin Carr, Royce Rexilius, David Sundeen, Ted Rollogas and Roger Schutte, all of Lincoln.

A reception for 400 guests was held at the activity center of the church.

Sec. Dulles Angers Critics In Four Capitals With Foreign Issue Statements

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles found himself in hot water in three world capitals Friday.

Critics in West Germany, Italy and India assailed his stand on key issues affecting those countries.

There were signs that he may also have ruffled the feelings of a fourth foreign government, Japan, with his comment that the United States was carrying too big a load on behalf of Japan.

Dispatches from Bonn, Germany, New Delhi, India, and Rome cited angry reactions—virtually without parallel in recent years—arising from Dulles' statements in a speech before the American Legion convention at St. Louis on Wednesday and at his news conference here Thursday.

Diplomats Distressed

Veteran American diplomats were obviously distressed at the denunciation of their chief for his plain-spoken language. Officially, however, the State Department tried to ride out the storm by declaring "no comment" when asked to comment on the blasts against Dulles.

Here is a country-by-country roundup of the picture as reported by overseas dispatches.

West Germany—The German Socialist Party, led by Chairman

Erich Ollenhauer, denounced Dulles' endorsement of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's bid for re-election Sunday.

"It is a vicious attempt by the American government to interfere in the German elections," the party said in a statement.

The Socialists and other German anti-Adenauer political parties kept hammering on this theme in a last-ditch effort to convert Dulles' praise into a liability for the pro-American German leader.

The Socialists' denunciations were aimed at Dulles' news conference remarks Thursday that Adenauer's defeat would be very disastrous to Germany's hopes for unification and would indefinitely postpone prospects for a rational German settlement.

Dulles' endorsement of Adenauer was the most ringing ever given a foreign leader just before election day and marked a departure from the American tradition of non-interference in foreign elections.

India—Angry newspapers and some political figures attacked Dulles for his St. Louis speech Wednesday in which he commented on India's persistent neutrality in the Korean War. Dispatches from New Delhi reported American popularity plunged to a new low in the wake of this criticism. Dulles' words were viewed as unsolicited criticism of India for attempting to maintain a foreign policy independent of the East or West.

Italy—U.S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce had a long conference at the Italian foreign office as Italian tempers flared over Dulles' remarks about disputed Trieste. At his news conference

Thursday, the secretary obviously angered the Italian government by saying the United States is open-minded about a Trieste settlement. He said this country has unsuccessfully tried to find an alternative to the 1948 proposal it supported which favors turning the entire Adriatic Free Zone over to Italy.

Internal Security

Japan—Dulles called on the Japanese at his news conference to increase their internal security forces to guard against possible subversion. He said the United States is carrying too big a load on behalf of Japan at a time when the Japanese government seemed to find money to spend on non-essential projects.

Japanese embassy officials were obviously upset at this public criticism of their policy, especially since their 1945 constitution disarmed Japan permanently, with American approval. American officials predicted privately this criticism would be misunderstood and resented by some in Japan and would prompt anti-Dulles speeches and editorials in some Japanese newspapers.

Education Chief Thurston, 58, Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Lee M. Thurston, 58, U. S. commissioner of education, died in Georgetown University Hospital Friday after suffering a heart attack.

The Michigan educator, who was appointed to the federal post by President Eisenhower and took office July 2, was stricken last Saturday.

Eisenhower expressed "deep regret" at Dr. Thurston's death, saying in a statement at Denver: "I had full confidence in his ability and held high hopes for his leadership in that important office."

A former dean of the School of Education at Michigan State College, Dr. Thurston served four years as Michigan state superintendent of public instruction before coming to Washington.

He was born at Central Lake, Mich., and educated at the University of Michigan.

Kiwanians Hear NU Prof Discuss Labor Questions

Arguments presented by labor and management on national labor policy questions were discussed by Dr. Richard M. Bourne at Kiwanis Club Friday noon.

In keeping with the approaching Labor Day holiday, Dr. Bourne, professor of economics and labor relations at the University of Nebraska, told of recent questions of national labor policy.

Dr. Bourne said another argument was whether the Taft-Hartley law was adequate to deal with national emergencies arising from labor disputes.

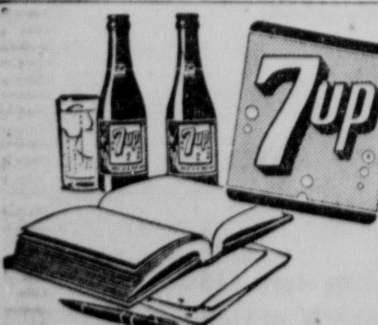

He said another big question remaining to be answered was whether labor was a monopoly, and, if so, what limitations could be placed on it.

Lincoln Tavern Owner Summoned For Hearing

James E. Silverio, who operates a tavern at 2021 "O" Street, was cited by the State Liquor Commission Friday to appear before it Sept. 24 and show cause why his license should not be revoked or suspended.

Tal Conrad, chairman of the Commission, said the action, the first to be taken against a Lincoln licensee, was started after conferences with city officials.

The charges are that Silverio gave false statements on his financial responsibility in making application to the city for a license.

Musial's Home Run Blow To Brave Flag Hopes

Milwaukee Loses, 4-2; Giants Fall To Brooks

By International News Service
The Brooklyn Dodgers are headed in the right direction again—toward clinching the National League pennant. They boosted their lead back to 10 games Friday night by defeating the New York Giants, 8-6, while Milwaukee was losing to St. Louis, 4-2.

The Dodgers' "magic number" for clinching the pennant is now 11.
Brooklyn had of come from behind after West Westrum, Al Corwin and Whitey Lockman had tied a major league record by hitting consecutive home runs in the fourth inning.

The Dodgers broke a 6-all tie in the seventh inning on a double by Carl Furillo, errors by Daryl Spencer and Bob Hofman and a fly.

A three-run homer by Stan Musial in the eighth inning was the payoff blow for the Cardinals against the Braves.

St. Louis came from behind to tie the score at 1-1 in the sixth inning after the Braves opened the scoring in the fifth on walks to Sid Gordon and Johnny Antonelli and Bill Bruton's double.

Musial's clinching blow in the eighth came after Solly Hemus had doubled and Red Schoendienst had beat out an infield hit.

Cleveland and the Chicago White Sox failed to break their second-place deadlock in the American League as they battled 11 innings to a 6-all tie. The contest finally was halted by rain.

The St. Louis Browns drubbed Detroit, 14-6, getting ten runs in the fifth inning.

Vic Wertz, clouted a grand slam home run, his 18th round tripper of the season to feature the big inning. Eight straight hitters went to the plate before Johnny Groth finally hit into a force play for the first out. At the finish, 16 batters appeared at the plate as Al Aber was knocked out and the attack continued against Ray Scarborough.

The Cardinals against the Braves.

Yeisley's Blocking Wins Praise

Huskers Stage First Scrimmage Today

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

Jim Yeisley, 185-pound full-back from Coin, Ia., caught the limelight Friday in the Nebraska football camp as the Huskers prepared for the first big scrimmage today.

Yeisley, known the past two seasons for his defensive prowess, was described by Coach Bill Glassford as "the best blocker of all our backs."

Among the linemen showing the most improvement in blocking, Glassford pointed to Bob Wagner, 195-pound junior guard from Lincoln, and Ted Connor, 220-pound senior tackle from Hastings.

"Our line play has looked better, but it still has a long way to go," opined Sir William.

When asked if his Huskers were ahead of the 1952 pace, he came up with this bit of oral footwork: "That's a difficult question because we've changed systems. I'll know much more after the Saturday scrimmage."

The skirmish, which caps one week of drilling and is two weeks before the Oregon opener, will be staged at 4:30 today behind locked gates.

A warm argument is developing around the guard posts with the aforementioned Wagner scrapping it out with Pev Evans, 220-pound junior from Rapid City, S.D.; John Machisic, 200-pound Turtle Creek, Pa., senior; and Demas Griess, 200-pound Sutton junior.

Machisic and Wagner were at the guard spots on the No. 1 team, listed Friday by Glassford. Remainder of the unit included Ralph Weddle and Bill Schabacker, ends; Ted Connor and Jerry Minnick, tackles; Jim Oliver, center; George Gohde, quarterback; John Bordogna and Bob Smith, halfbacks, and Jim Yeisley, fullback.

Working on placements were the Bordogna, Dennis Korinek and John Edwards. The kickoff duties will be divided among Evans, Weddle and Connor.

Edwards, 195-pound North Platte sophomore, was moved up to the No. 2 fullback spot behind Yeisley. Dropped to the fourth unit behind Sylvester Harris, Kansas City, Mo., sophomore, was Ray Novak, senior veteran and one of the top ground-gainers the past two seasons.

The only other lineup change placed Griess ahead of Charley Bryant as second team guard.

When asked what he hoped to see in today's scrimmage, Glassford answered: "Some good, hard, crisp blocking, tackling and running."

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Guard Jerry Markbreit of Chicago was sidelined for a week as Illinois' football players welcomed a break in the heat wave with a long practice session.

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Three members of the University of Missouri football squad, Don Hanners and Jack Hurley, ends, and Mac Smith, guard, missed practice because of injuries. Hanners with a sprained ankle and the others with pulled muscles—but Coach Don Faurot said that contact drills so far have produced no injuries.

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—The Kansas Jayhawkers ran through dummy offense and a forward passing scrimmage in tuning up for their first hard scrimmage Saturday.

Limmer's Hitting Paces Ottawa A's

The hitting of Lou Limmer, former Lincoln first baseman was a key factor in the Ottawa Athletics' 4-3 exhibition victory over the parent Philadelphia A's at Ottawa Friday night.

Ottawa scored four runs in the third inning on four singles, a walk and a double by Limmer. Big Lou hit 29 home runs for Lincoln in 1948 and led the Western league in homers the following year.

Offenhauser At State Fair

Built at a cost of $20,000 and entered in the 1953 Indianapolis 500-mile race, this Offenhauser owned by Leslie Vaughn of Omaha and driven by Wayne Selzer of Kansas City will be among the favored starters in the speedway-type races at the Nebraska State Fair Sunday and Thursday.

Indianapolis '500' Car Races At State Fair Speedway

A car built especially for this year's Indianapolis 500-mile race Friday was entered in the speedway-type races at the Nebraska State Fair Sunday and Thursday.

The big Offenhauser, now owned by Leslie Vaughn of Omaha, will be piloted by Wayne Selzer of Kansas City. The original owner was Warren Christensen of Omaha, who financed the work of veteran designer Art Ramer.

The car was taken to Indianapolis last May and reached 125 miles an hour in trial runs but was withdrawn from competition after Selzer decided he lacked the experience to handle the auto in the Memorial Day classic.

Mechanical adjustments were made this summer to adapt the car for dirt-track racing and in its initial meet the Nebraska auto trailed only Bobby Grim and Bob Slater at the Iowa State Fair in Des Moines. Selzer again piloted the Offy to third place in the feature race at the North Central Kansas Fair in Belleville last Tuesday.

Major Club On Coast In 5 Years

... Says Sporting News

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Sporting News, in a copyrighted story, put the finger on Los Angeles Friday as an eventual National League city.

Writing under a Los Angeles dateline, J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of the baseball weekly, said the earliest date for the expansion of the National League would appear to be five years away.

The story cites two incidents to support its prediction of the promotion of the current Pacific Coast League city to major league status:

1. In 1947, the Sporting News reports, the National League revised its constitution to provide for an expansion to a 10-team circuit. This was done, the Sporting News states, without concurring action by the American League.

2. The Los Angeles Angels, the PCL club owned by P. K. Wrigley—who also owns the Chicago National League franchise—has informed the nearby Hollywood club it would not operate in the Angel's territory after 1958, the Sporting News said.

The Hollywood Stars play in the Angels' territory only with Wrigley's permission, the Sporting News reports, and the licensing gives the Angels' treasury five per cent on each admission from the Stars.

Browns, Baltimore Agree On Rent

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore News-Post said today that the city and the St. Louis Browns have agreed on rental terms of the municipal stadium in case the major league franchise transfer is approved.

The American League disapproved the transfer for this season but Bill Veck, owner of the Browns, is expected to try again for next season.

A second deck to increase capacity to more than 50,000 now is being built in the stadium.

A Family Affair At Northeast Open House

Three Capital City high schools—College View, Lincoln High and Northeast—held open house at their fields Friday night, for the purpose of introducing their 1953 squads and demonstrating football skills to their fans. At Northeast, it turned into a family

Perez Stops Gallardo For 22nd Straight Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Lulu Perez, flashy Brooklyn prospect, scored his 22nd straight victory Friday night when he stopped Davey Gallardo of Los Angeles on cuts in eight rounds of a bristling 10 rounder in Madison Square Garden. Referee Ruby Goldstein halted the scrap after the eighth round and it went into the books as an eight round technical knockout.

Perez, who weighed 125 to Gallardo's 126½, was a 4-1 favorite although he ranks eighth among the featherweights while Gallardo ranks fifth.

In the first round it looked like the odds favoring the 20-year-old Brooklyn speedster were justified when he staggered the scrappy coast crewcut with a flashing overhand right to the jaw.

In the second Perez buzzed around Davey and opened a cut over the underdog's left eye. The odds still looked good. But from then on the experienced 23-year-old Californian gave Lulu the battle of his life, staggering him in the fourth and eighth rounds with rights to the jaw.

Gedman's Touchdown Gives Detroit Tie

DETROIT (AP)—Rookie Gene Gedman scored on a 3-yard end run with less than two minutes to go Friday night as the Detroit Lions rallied to tie the Cleveland Browns 24-24 in an exhibition game before 39,985 fans in Briggs Stadium.

Gedman's touchdown kept intact the Lions' record of never having lost to Cleveland. The Detroiters, champions of the national football league, had a 4-0 record against the Browns before.

Cleveland scores: touchdowns, Jagade, Lavell 2; Conversions, Groza 3; Field goals, Groza 2. Detroit scores: touchdowns, Hart, Larry Gedman; Conversions, Harder 3; Field goal, Harder.

Chiefs Lose Game, 4-3, To Pueblo

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP)—Right-hander Mel Waters scattered seven hits in pitching Pueblo to a 4-3 Western League victory over Lincoln here Friday.

It was Pueblo's second straight win over the Chiefs in the series which winds up with a single game Saturday night.

Pueblo got its victory margin in the fourth inning when the Dusty Rhodes Dodgers bunched four hits for three runs. Kent Pfisterer opened the inning with his eighth homerun of the season. With one out Manager George Pfister singled to left field and came in on Lew Curry's double to deep left center. Curry moved to third on the play at the plate and scored as Norm Postolose singled to left for the second of his three hits.

Postolose's first hit, a sharp single down the left field line, scored Curry from second base in the first inning. Curry reached base on a throwing error by Lincoln Shortstop Jack Caro.

Walt Linden, Lincoln's manager-catcher, batted in his club's first two runs with a second inning triple into the right field corner after Glenn McQuillen and Caro had singled.

The Chiefs got their third run in the fifth when Dusty Rhodes doubled after Pinchbatter Dan Holden had reached first when Curry dropped his pop fly in shallow left field.

Saturday the Chiefs will send Bill Denney (7-7) against Pueblo's Karl Spooner (0-6) in the final game of the series.

The loss Friday night caused Lincoln to lose one game in the standings to Pueblo. However, its position relative to its other chief contenders for a first division berth remained unchanged because Omaha and Des Moines lost also.

Sec. Dulles Angers Critics In Four Capitals With Foreign Issue Statements

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles found himself in hot water in three world capitals Friday.

Critics in West Germany, Italy and India assailed his stand on key issues affecting those countries.

There were signs that he may also have ruffled the feelings of pan with his comment that the United States was carrying too big a load on behalf of Japan.

Dispatches from Bonn, Germany, New Delhi, India, and Rome cited angry reactions—virtually without parallel in recent years—arising from Dulles' statements in a speech before the American Legion convention at St. Louis on Wednesday and at his news conference here Thursday.

Diplomats Distressed

Veteran American diplomats were obviously distressed at the denunciation of their chief for his plain-spoken language. Officially, however, the State Department tried to ride out the storm by declaring "no comment" when asked to comment on the blasts against Dulles.

Here is a country-by-country roundup of the picture as reported by overseas dispatches.

West Germany—The German Socialist Party, led by Chairman

Erich Ollenhauer, denounced Dulles' endorsement of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's bid for re-election Sunday.

"It is a vicious attempt by the American government to interfere in the German elections," the party said in a statement.

The Socialists and other German anti-Adenauer political parties kept hammering on this theme in a last-ditch effort to convert Dulles' praise into a liability for the pro-American German leader.

The Socialists' denunciations were aimed at Dulles' news conference remarks Thursday that Adenauer's defeat would be very disastrous to Germany's hopes for unification and would indefinitely postpone prospects for a rational German settlement.

Dulles' endorsement of Adenauer was the most ringing ever given a foreign leader just before election day and marked a departure from the American tradition of non-interference in foreign elections.

India—Angry newspapers and some political figures attacked Dulles for his St. Louis speech Wednesday in which he commented on India's persistent neutrality in the Korean War. Dispatches from New Delhi reported American popularity plunged to a new low in the wake of this criticism. Dulles' words were viewed as unsolicited criticism of India for attempting to maintain a foreign policy independent of the East or West.

Italy—U.S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce had a long conference at the Italian foreign office as Italian tempers flared over Dulles' remarks about disputed Trieste. At his news conference

Thursday, the secretary obviously angered the Italian government by saying the United States is open-minded about a Trieste settlement. He said this country has unsuccessfully tried to find an alternative to the 1948 proposal it supported which favors turning the entire Adriatic Free Zone over to Italy.

Japan—Dulles called on the Japanese at his news conference to increase their internal security forces to guard against possible subversion. He said the United States is carrying too big a load on behalf of Japan at a time when the Japanese government seemed to find money to spend on non-essential projects. Japanese embassy officials were obviously upset at this public criticism of their policy, especially since their 1945 constitution disarmed Japan permanently, with American approval. American officials predicted privately this criticism would be misunderstood and resented by some in Japan and would prompt anti-Dulles speeches and editorials in some Japanese newspapers.

Education Chief Thurston, 58, Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Lee M. Thurston, 58, U. S. commissioner of education, died in Georgetown University Hospital Friday after suffering a heart attack.

The Michigan educator, who was appointed to the federal post by President Eisenhower and took office July 2, was stricken last Saturday.

Eisenhower expressed "deep regret" at Dr. Thurston's death, saying in a statement at Denver: "I had full confidence in his ability and held high hopes for his leadership in that important office."

A former dean of the School of Education at Michigan State College, Dr. Thurston served four years as Michigan state superintendent of public instruction before coming to Washington.

He was born at Central Lake, Mich., and educated at the University of Michigan.

Kiwanians Hear NU Prof Discuss Labor Questions

Arguments presented by labor and management on national labor policy questions were discussed by Dr. Richard M. Bourne at Kiwanis Club Friday noon.

In keeping with the approaching Labor Day holiday, Dr. Bourne, professor of economics and labor relations at the University of Nebraska, told of recent questions of national labor policy.

Dr. Bourne said another argument was whether the Taft-Hartley law was adequate to deal with national emergencies arising from labor disputes.

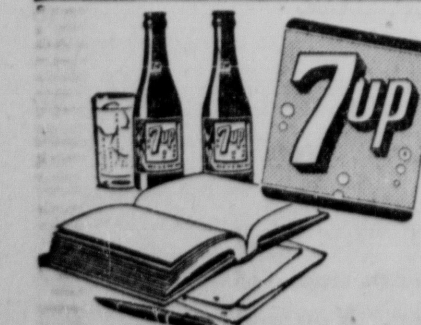

He said another big question remaining to be answered was whether labor was a monopoly, and, if so, what limitations could be placed on it.

Lincoln Tavern Owner Summoned For Hearing

James E. Silverio, who operates a tavern at 2021 "O" Street, was cited by the State Liquor Commission Friday to appear before it Sept. 24 and show cause why his license should not be revoked or suspended.

Tal Coonrad, chairman of the Commission, said the action, the first to be taken against a Lincoln licensee, was started after conferences with city officials.

The charges are that Silverio gave false statements on his financial responsibility in making application to the city for a license.

Bitter West Germany Election Campaign Nears End

Adenauer Warns 'Nation's Fate Hangs In Balance'

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany's bitter election campaign neared an end Friday night with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer warning "the fate of our nation hangs in the balance" and the opposition Socialists blasting America for "shocking intervention."

The Germans will elect a new 484-member parliament Sunday, in an election that will decide international issues of grave importance in the cold war.

Most of the 2,250 candidates wound up their campaign for the support of the 33,000,000 voters.

Tough old Dr. Adenauer, fighting for re-election at 77, called on the voters in a nationwide television address for a ringing endorsement of his pro-Western foreign policy and free economic program at home.

Adenauer

Final Address

"Don't change horses in the middle of the stream," he warned.

For his final campaign address, Adenauer invaded the heavily-populated Ruhr to voice a stern warning in Essen that the Germans must decide Sunday between friendship with the West and dangerous isolation in the cold war.

The Chancellor's main opponents, the Socialists, meanwhile pounded hard on the newest and hottest issue in the campaign—American "interference."

U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles provoked this by stating that Adenauer's defeat would have disastrous effects on the prospect for German unification.

In a special statement, the Socialist Party also accused Dulles of trying to torpedo the proposed Big Four conference on Germany. The party said that Dulles' criticism of Russia in his statement on Germany shows that "in his heart, Dulles does not really want any reunification of Germany through negotiations."

'Unrealistic'

Independent observers differed over the effect of Dulles' unexpected endorsement of Adenauer, but the Socialists claimed it would hurt the Chancellor rather than help him.

Socialist chieftain Erich Ollenhauer in a last appeal to voters lashed out at Adenauer's foreign policy as "unrealistic" and declared: "The German people would be the first victims of a new war." He said:

"The peaceful reunification of Germany isn't only the first aim of the German people but the surest way to ease prevailing international tension."

"The surest way to bring about this reunification is through a conference of the four big powers. Therefore we demand an immediate Big Four meeting which will take concrete steps to solve the German problem."

DOCTOR DRAFT IS CALLED OFF

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Army suddenly announced an end of the "doctors draft" Friday and revealed that it has a surplus of 500 physicians on military duty.

The surplus physicians are to be "redistributed" to the Navy and Air Force. They will serve their terms, but the Army said: "No further draft calls for physicians will be made and no more volunteer medical officers will be accepted until such time as losses create new vacancies."

The surplus was attributed to a flood of volunteers for officer's commission, many of them doctors who previously had obtained deferments and to the fact that more physicians are remaining on duty after the expiration of their original terms.

Sale Date Advanced

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—W. B. Saunders and Co., publisher of Dr. Alfred Kinsey's "Sexual Behavior of the Human Female," announced that the book's release date has been advanced from Sept. 15 to Sept. 9. Harry R. Most, vice president, said the action was taken when it was learned that some New York stores begun selling the book.

Jet Bomber Tops Ocean Hop Record

TAMPA, Fla.—(AP)—A B-47 Stratojet bomber crew clipped 40 minutes off the record time of a non-stop crossing from England to MacDill Air Force Base here Friday.

The crew, headed by Col. Michael McCoy of Tampa, flew the 4,495 miles from Fairford, England, to Tampa in nine hours, 13 minutes. The old mark was set recently by Col. Elliott Van Denvanter.

McCoy, the flying grandfather of the Air Force, piloted the first ship of the homeward bound 306th Wing which has been in training in England for three months. McCoy, 48, and who has two grandchildren, is commander of the 306th. Flying with Col. McCoy were Maj. James Gallagher of Tampa and Capt. Clarence Leffingwell of Cleveland. Gallagher was co-pilot, Leffingwell the navigator-observer.

The B-47, which is capable of delivering atomic bombs, left England at 4 a.m. EST and arrived at Tampa at 1:13 EST. The average flying time was 508.8 miles per hour.
